President Dr. Jacqueline Marshall was born in Washington D.C and raised in Prince George's County Maryland. Having attended Kettering Elementary and Middle School before graduating from Largo High School in 1994, she is a proud product of the gorgeous Prince George's County.

Dr. Marshall went on to the University of MD College Park where she graduated in 1998 and received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Communications. From there she obtained a Masters of Arts in Reading Education from Bowie State and a Masters of Science in Administration and Leadership from Trinity University, both in 2006. Dr. Marshall most recently received her Doctorate Degree in Leadership and Policy from the University of Maryland College Park in 2017. She has worked for the Prince George's County School system for a total of 19 successful years. Dr. Marshall is a passionate Champion for Children. She always puts children first and believes that "we cannot predict the future, but we can create it." Every school is filled with scholars of great potential. Each student is destined for greatness and deserves the best.

Most recently, she has started her own LLC. by the name H.E.A.L. This Healthy Energetic Active Lifestyle company promotes health wellness in children and adults. The organization's focus is on one's physical, mental, financial and spiritual wellbeing. "As a principal, I observed the struggles that parent's experience which prevent them from becoming involved in their child's education." These experiences include financial, health, employment and housing, but research shows that when parents are involved in their child's schooling, the student will excel academically. H.E.A.L's mission is to offer services for health and wellness, financial literacy, counseling and assisting families to build strong communities.

Dr. Marshall has a love for children and a concern over the wellness of people. After the loss of a loved one, due to cancer, and her father winning his fight to prostate cancer, she saw the additional need in starting the for-profit company. The urgency and need of including counseling came after the recent death of her husband, Gregory Hall, in 2016. Families need support and direct access to those resources. The vision for H.E.A.L is to heal the lives of many by providing direct access to counseling support, mental and physical health resources, cancer research donations, and other resources needed for the community.

Dr. Marshall's need to start this mentoring group also includes helping young ladies discover their fullest potential. She wants young ladies to be a part of something positive and learn to live beyond themselves, but to always see how there can be a positive force in society.

Dr. Marshall's motivation comes from not only making a difference in other children's lives, but those of her own as well. She resides in Upper Marlboro, Maryland with her two lovely children, Bobby and Kalyn. She inspires them everyday to be their most authentic self and to trust in the Lord. Through him, anything is possible.
